

I believe the State of WI is better equipped to deal with the unwanted telemarketers than the FCC. I do not feel the State legislators are bending to the wishes of the "big Corporate interests". I am intelligent enough to decide if I want to have some one call me with telemarketing, and I have given this trust to My state legislators to stop the harrassment caused by these people calling my phone all day and evening. If I have chosen not to do business with these organizations any more. WHY is it not enough for them to leave me alone? If I want or need something, I will go looking for it locally. The more calls I get the more angry I will get about the harrassment. I pay the bill for the telephone line, and I should not have to put up with this trash any more. If you choose to ignore Americans not wanting to be called, then I believe the FCC does not have our interests in mind. Please leave well enough alone. Thank you RB
